Art Unit: 1732

1.Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Applicant has amended claim 8 to recite that the pavement marker(s) can be agglutinated to each other and there does not appear to be any support for such language. Applicant needs to point out where in the specification such exists. Note that sonic welding is a specific form of bonding which would not permit the use of a more general term like "agglutinated".

2.The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim 8 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,811,729. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because of reasons already set forth.

3.Applicant's arguments filed July 5, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant notes that the instant method is patentably distinct from that of previously issued US Patent 6,811,729 because of certain marker features. First of all, applicant is attempting to get a method patent, not an article patent. Hence, if the steps involved are still obvious over each other, then a double patenting rejection is still in order regardless of differences in the articles made. Also, it would appear that these differences are not really differences at all. For instance, applicant submits that the instant marker has "two rows of load carrying structural walls". However, claim 8, lines 2-3 merely recites "partition and load carrying walls defining two rows of interior hollow cavities", not two rows of walls. The independent posts noted by applicant for US Patent -729 in fact would include "partition and load carrying wall" and Figure 14 of the patent shows such posts when two markers have been bonded together, wherein clearly the back side is vertical. If indeed the sides are not strictly vertical, such would have been an obvious difference in the structure of the marker. Again, applicant needs to show processing steps which are different, not merely structural characteristics of the product.
